INSIGHTS VOL. 50

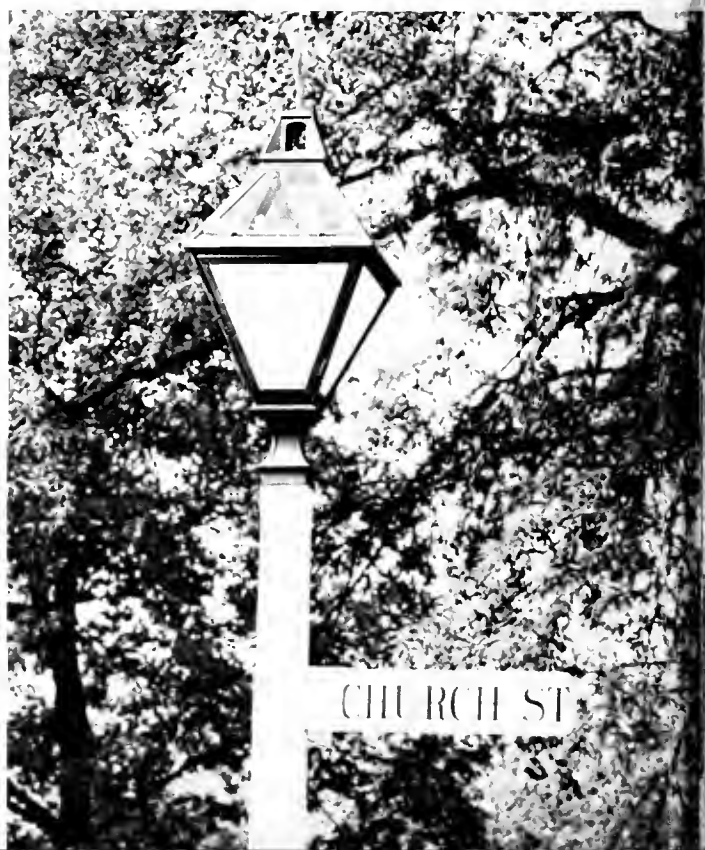

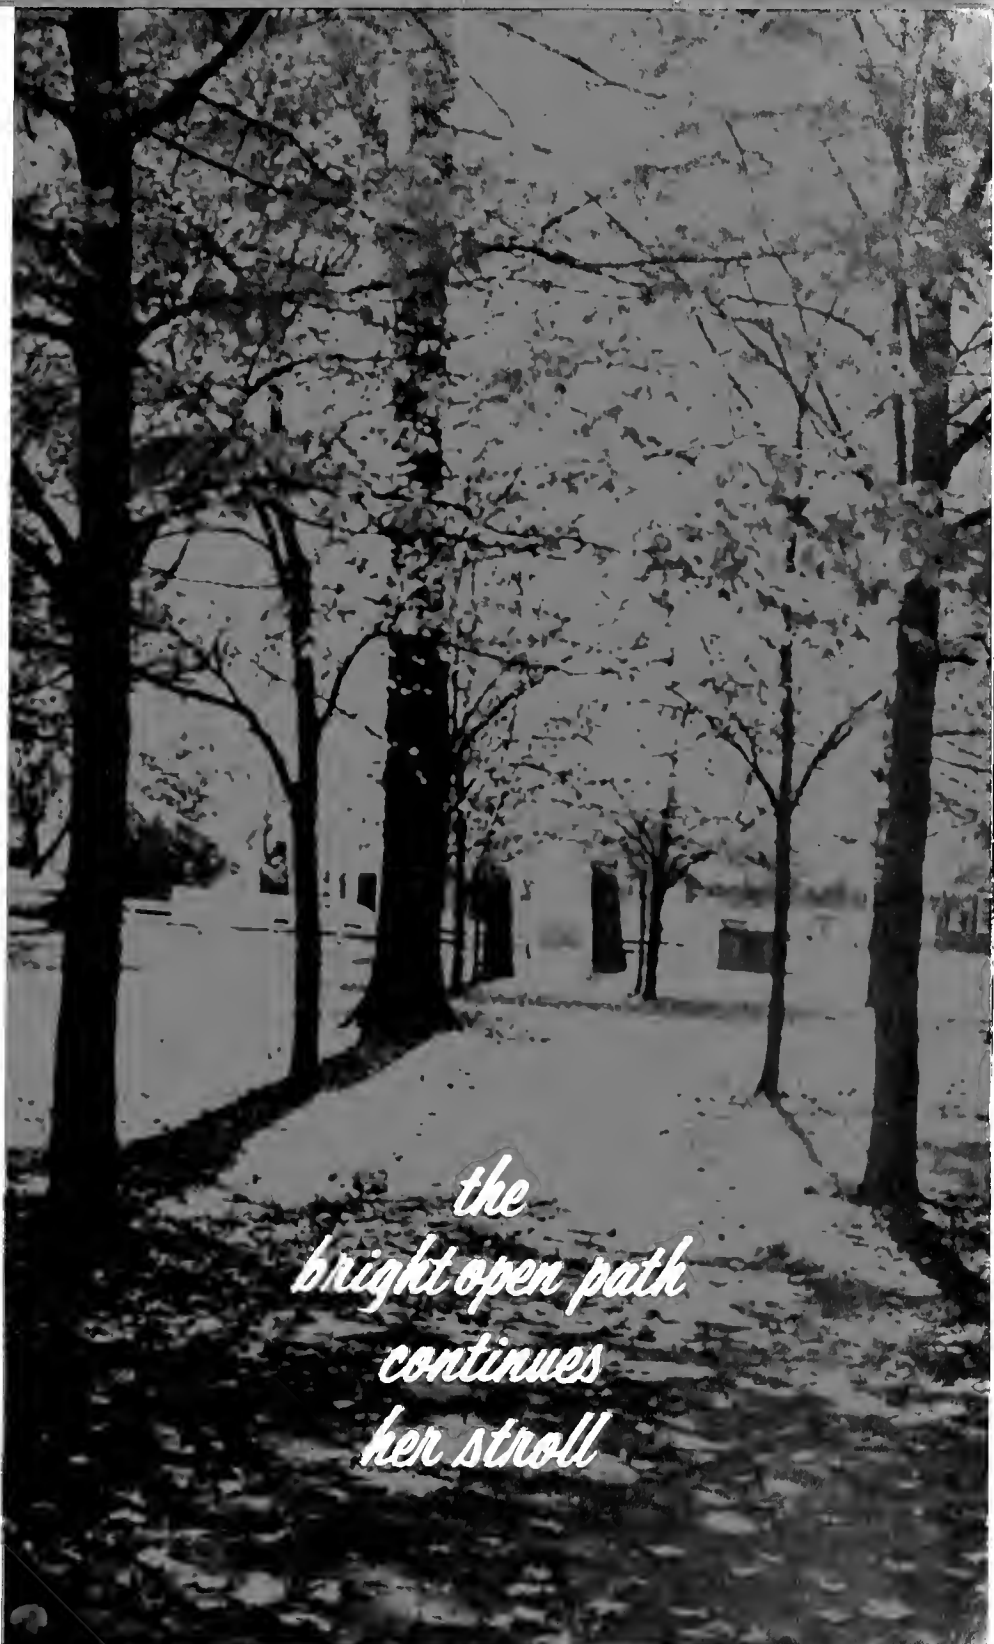

*Let us love nobly, and live, and add again
Years and years unto years till we attain To write threescore.*

This is the second of our reign.

- John Donne

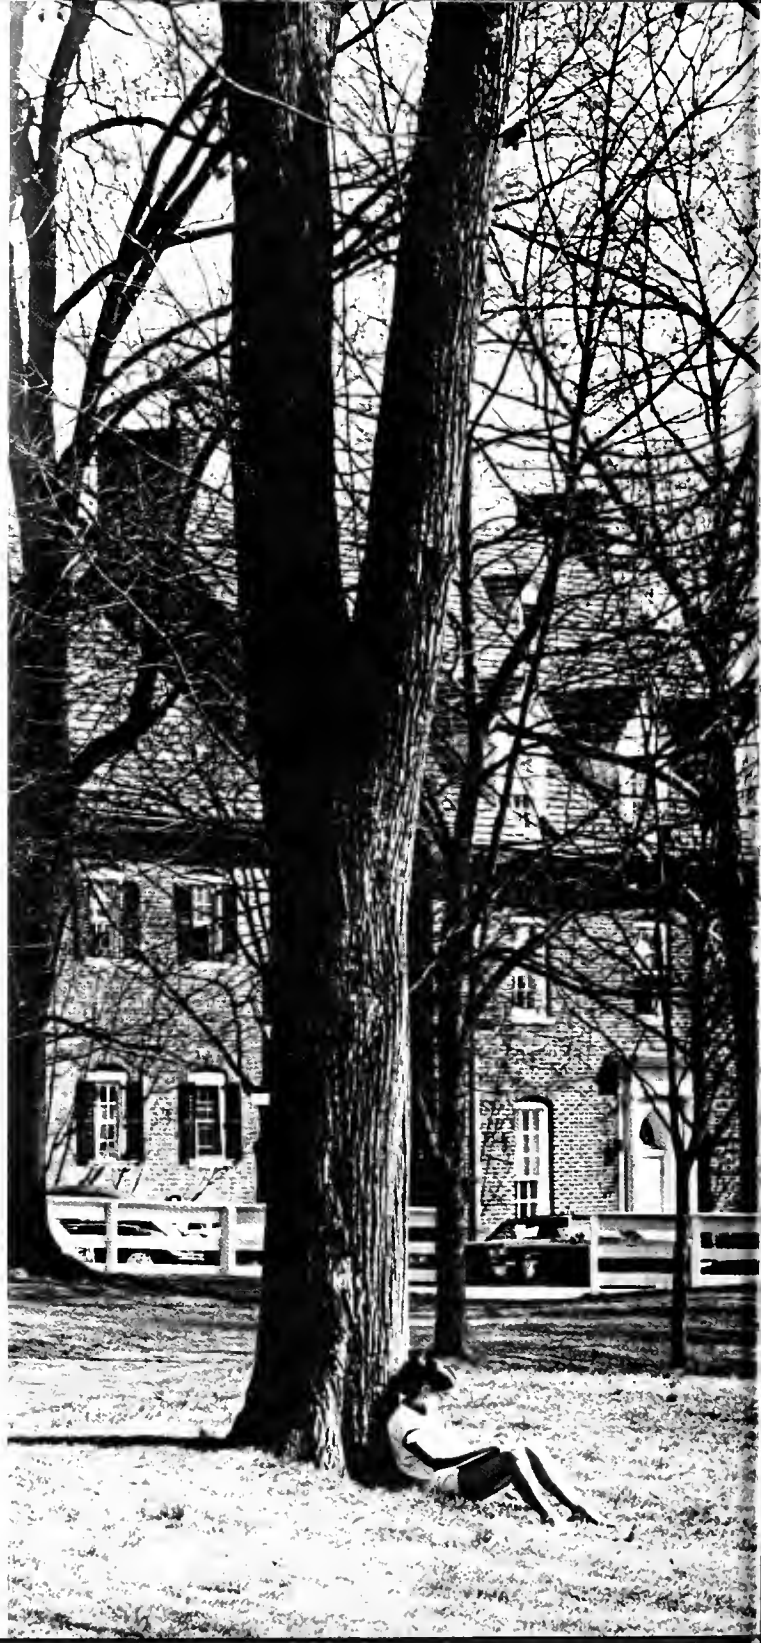

*Somewhere
beyond
silence*

*the bright open path
continues
her stroll*

Colored with the leaves of four seasons the square continues her vigil of silence.... two hundred years of wisdom in the breath of a breeze

And we a part of that silence involved

but detached

often reminded that it takes a fine command of language to say nothing...

We fail and begin again;

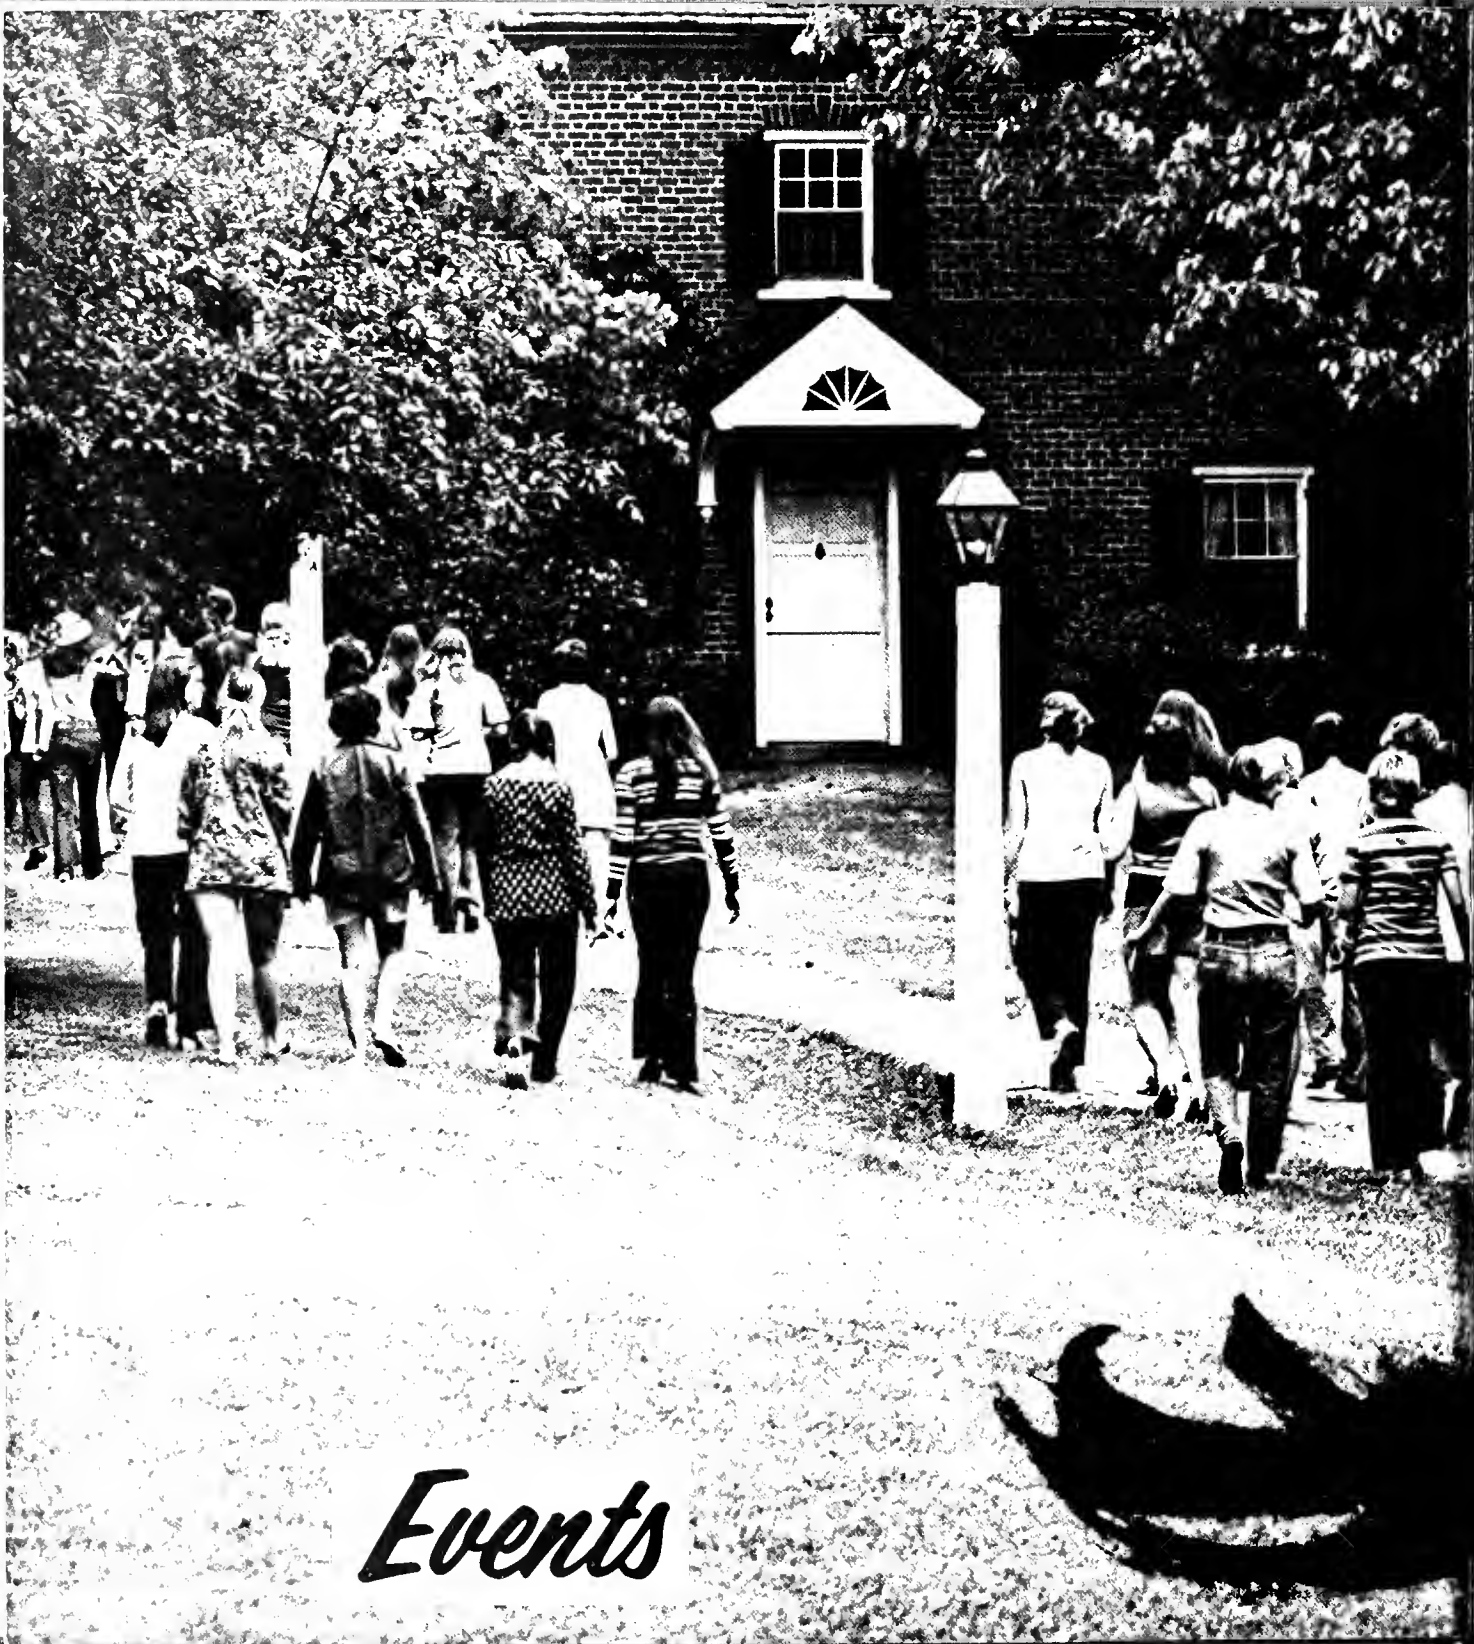

... a helper with problems ... someone always willing to talk even late at night ... involved in every aspect of Salem. ... has a great memory of names and is subject to student crushes. He is shy, easy-going and a real flamer. He is a man of personal and professional integrity, patience and understanding. He comes prepared with ski equipment, pink and yellow birthday balloons, and wire rims. He is a classic of a tennis player and is known as the famous "Black Jack Dealer from the Dakota Strip." He has been the first two feet of a caterpillar race. His name — "Flaming Arrow" — is derived from his blushing face, his sunburned bald spot and his hair. He plans to give up the mountains of North Carolina for the foothills of Montana.

He is our own — D.K.

An abstract black and white artwork. On the left, there are large, irregular white shapes against a dark, textured background. On the right, a series of thin, white, hand-drawn lines form a large, irregular, somewhat triangular shape that frames the text. The overall composition is high-contrast and expressive.

NOCTURNE

(to be read from bottom to top) of a moment's world

at the top
that lets two cur
on the lovingness of rock to cricket-chirp mumble when we lie to dabble toes in sky
to touch talk tremble in our middlenight mind top
top
top
climbing gentle wild
man-boy woman-child
the moon-ripened sweetness of earth voluptuous smiling of our white night feet against over under in us
slumberous sonorous august-old summerness
